Mrs. Ventress Rendered Insensible and Then Robbed.

ASSAILANT HAD A COMPANION

BOTH SUCCEED IN MAKING ES-CAPE FROM ROOMING HOUSE.

Mrs. Sarah Ventress, 61 yeas old, was choked into insensibility at her residence, 164 South Second West street, late Saturday night by a burglar. The robber and a companion secured a pocketbook containing several hundred dollars from their unconscious victim and walked calmly out of the house in the presence of three men who were stopping at the place before they realized what had occurred. Mrs. Ventress was unconscious for several minutes after the attack and not until she re-covered sufficiently to tell of the occurrence dld any one suspect anything wrong. By that time the robbers had

About 11:30 Saturday, night Mrs. Venress, who is the proprietress of the Sait Lake house, was awakened by some one rapping on her door. She asked what was wanted and a man replied that he wished to get a room.

Wanted to Get a Room.

After dressing Mrs. Ventress stepped out into the hall and the fellow handed her $1. The woman led the way down the hall to a vacant room and when she had reached a dimly lighted sec-tion, the man seized her from behind. Reaching one arm around her throat wholesome. he attempted to choke her, but did not succeed before she had called for as-

When she screamed the robber tightened his grip on her throat and pulled her over backwards to the floor. In a last vain effort to arouse her son, who was sleeping near by, Mrs. Ventress kicked the door as she fell. A moment later she became unconscious and door. licked the door as she fell. A moment later she became unconscious and does not remember anything more that occurred except that a second man appeared and began to search her.

The noise of the struggle awakened Henry Ventress, her son, and two bearders, who were sleeping on the floor above. Upon seeing his mother lying insensible on the floor, Ventress at first thought she had been taken lii, and paid no particular attention to Ili, and paid no particular attention to the two men who were just leaving the house. They walked leisurely out and passed the two boarders coming down the hall, both armed with re volvers. Neither of the men stopping at the house suspected the robbers and
